Falling for fun
Campus Life hosted its FallFest last week with the focus being on food, fun and fundraising. Take a look at some of the scenes:
Caring about community

My College Cares returned with an impact

With more than 1,300 volunteers at more than 80 locations, MCCers made a huge impact on lives last week when My College Cares returned.

Take a look at some of the scenes:

Meeting and greeting – When Quitman High School held its College Fair earlier this month, MCC instructors from the Career and Technical Education division and college recruiters were on hand to talk to ninth through 12th graders about the opportunities MCC has to offer. QHS students also learned about scholarships and financial aid avenues. Standing in back is Tiffany Hickman, recruiter. Front from left are Ivy League Recruiters. Talking to students is Terry Cullum, Information Systems Technology Program instructor.
Start spreading the news
The College’s TV show, MCC Today, tapes on Thursdays at 10 a.m. in the studio that’s located on the ground floor of Todd Library. If you want to be on the show, contact Neil Hatten at extension 345 to schedule an appearance.

Giving the United Way
Just a reminder… the completion date for MCC’s United Way submission is Nov. 7.

A contribution/pledge form, which is in triplicate, was placed in faculty and staff mailboxes. Participants are asked to return the signed white and canary copies to the President’s office; the pink copy is for the contributor. If you do not plan to contribute it is not necessary to fill out the form but please return the form in the “Campus Only” mailbox or to the President’s office.

If you did not receive a form and would like to make a contribution or pledge, please contact Carolyn Beeland, extension 618, or Misty Carter, extension 366, to receive a form.

Tell it to the sophomores
The 2014 Sophomore Transfer Day will be today, Monday, Oct. 27, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Ivy Hall. Sophomores who are completing their educational endeavors at MCC are welcomed to attend.

For details, contact Adrian Cross, recruiter, at extension 553.

Enrollment deadlines for WIA students
The WIA enrollment dates for the upcoming terms are Nov. 19-Dec. 5 for spring semester; April 20-May 5 for summer semester. For more information, contact Shannon Coleman, job placement specialist and WIA coordinator, at extension 327.

Study help offered through seminars
Students who want to brush up on their study and test taking skills are encouraged seminars set for Nov. 3 from 2-3 p.m. or 5-6 p.m. in Hardin Hall Room 122, or Nov. 4 from 2-3 p.m. in Ivy Hall Room 233.

Students can come to either session. The seminar will focus on tips to improve study skills, as well as proven strategies to maximize test performance.

The seminar can also be an opportunity for instructors to offer bonus points to students seeking ways to obtain extra class credit. Names of students in attendance will be recorded on a sign in sheet.

For more information, contact Deborah Nettles, career and retention advisor, at extension 404.
